Research Abstract

1)Emotional Attitude of Mother on Child Rearing

81.9% of Mothers that care child from three months to three years old, feel the child care burden. Mothers' child care burden significantly related to mother's cognition of having only short time witch have meal, take a bath and use a toilet, and mother's cognition of severe child requirement.

2)Mother's Condition of Having a lot of potential for Child Abuse

Six mother's conditions of Having a lot of potential for physical abuse and psychological abuse on child are found by Grounded Theory Approach. First is no leisurely daily life space. Second is the condition that mother cannot accept child requirement. The reasons why she cannot accept child requirement is that she frequently have no knowledge about child development and child behavior, or that she frequently take child in negative sense. Third is the condition that mother donot sympathize with child. Fourth is the condition that she accept some oter's negative view for child or her method of child rearing. Fifth is condition that mother firmly take child temperament in negative sense. Sixth is condition that mother adhere to the norm about child rearing witch she is believing.
